

EOT Cleaning Online End Of Tenancy Cleaning Booking System

Over the last several years, EOT Cleaning has built its reputation as a professional and truly affordable partner for Londoners looking for end of tenancy cleaning. We have a highly skilled team of cleaners; we have the tools and equipment to get the job done. Having carried out hundreds of end of tenancy cleaning exercises across London, we can confidently guarantee you that we can handle any task. This time round, we're pleased to announce to you that we have put in place an effective online end of tenancy cleaning booking system. The system is meant to make it easier for you as a tenant or landlord, so that you can book our services fast and with ease.

How does our online booking system work?

Here at EOT Cleaning, we are only too aware of the importance of an end of tenancy cleaning; we know what's at stake in terms of having your deposit refunded or not depending on how good a job you do. In that regard, it is our desire to ensure that the booking process is made as easy and quick as can be possible. Previously, one would have to give us a call, feed us details of their location, size of their home, the date they'll be available, and so on so forth. This meant that if you failed to get us during working hours, you'd have to wait until the following day in order to speak to us. But with this online booking system, all you have to do is to quickly fill in your location, personal contacts, and date of cleaning; once you do that and submit the online form, the ball promptly goes to our court! We'll get back to you in order to confirm the details and agree on the date and time you want us to come over.

How about payment when you make an online booking of our end of tenancy cleaning services?

This is easy; you can make payments online via Visa card or master card! Like we mentioned earlier, we will give you a free quote that's based on the size of your house and amount of work to be done. The quote isn't final and can be adjusted later when our team shows up at your premises. EOT Cleaning Services' greatest desire is to leave all our clients satisfied with the job we have done; money only comes afterwards. You don't have to pay in advance for us to come over! Rather, we'll agree on a flexible payment method because we know by the time we're finishing with your house, the results shall speak for themselves! Our online payment platforms are safe and secure.

Advantages of an online booking system;

- Booking our end of tenancy cleaning services online is easy and fast. It helps you save time you'd have wasted trying to contact us with queries, awaiting our feedback, and so on. An online booking helps you give all the relevant details, and leave it to us to get back to you.
- By filling the online booking form, you can now concentrate on other important things like organizing the new premises you'll be moving to. In other words, booking online is a sure way of throwing the ball to our court; you've done your part and it is for us to now play our part.
- You also save a few coins by booking our services online; most tenants are exploited by cleaning companies because they approach them at the last minute when they're so desperate for the services. But EOT Cleaning is your caring partner, we never hike our prices or overcharge you; in fact, booking early means that you're always assured of getting a fair deal!

We're offering attractive discounts to all tenants and landlords who'll book our end of tenancy cleaning services online! Hurry up and get in touch today.
